Parents Children and Divorce - An Education Program for Divorcing Parents

Course fee: $50

Parents, Children and Divorce is a four-hour interactive seminar parents must complete prior to a divorce being granted. It does not tell parents how to raise their children. Rather, this court-mandated class aims to accomplish four simple, highly important goals:

1. Strengthening the family unit by focusing on what the children are going through and offering ways to help children cope with divorce and feelings of loss.
2. Communicating more effectively with your children and your former spouse.
3. Identifying the warning signs of depression and anger in your children.
4. Handling the trauma children face during and after the family unit changes due to divorce or separation.

Since 1990, more than 85,000 parents have taken the Parents, Children and Divorce program throughout the United States, and most who have taken the class agreed on the importance of keeping their children both physically and mentally healthy during and after the divorce-and taking this seminar helped them reach that goal. Austin Peay is pleased to provide this public service program for courts in Montgomery, Cheatham, Dickson, Houston, Humphreys, Robertson and Stewart counties. Classes are held in Clarksville on the Austin Peay campus and The Family Guidance Training Institute and in Dickson at the Renaissance Center each month.

The cost for each class is $50, which includes a workbook. For more information about the program, class meeting dates or to register for the course, call (931) 221-7816.

MCP and MCSA Certification

The Microsoft Certified Professional (MCP) credential is for IT professionals with the skills to implement a Microsoft product or technology as part of a business solution in an organization.

Once you complete the MCP certification program, expand your IT skills with Microsoft Certified System Administrator (MCSA) credential if you want to implement, manage and maintain the typically complex computing environment of medium- to large-sized companies.

You may also choose the Microsoft Certified System Engineer (MCSE) credential if you want to plan, design and implement Microsoft Windows server solutions and architectures in medium- to large-sized companies.

MCP, MCSA and MCSE exams are developed with the input of professionals in the industry and reflect the use of Microsoft products.

It is necessary to develop hands-on experience with the product before you begin the certification process. The Center offers a three-course prep program for MCP taught by a certified Microsoft instructor.

The MCP program includes CompTIA A+ Hardware and Software, CompTIA Network + and MS Windows XP Professional (70-270). These courses prepare candidates to earn the MCP certification by successfully passing the CompTIA and Microsoft exams.

For information or details about the IT Prep program, contact The Center at (931) 221-7816.

Additional Microsoft technology courses are provided for students who wish to pursue the MCSA or MCSE certification tracks. (Dates and times to be announced.)

All new -- Cisco® CCNA Training

The Cisco® CCNA network associate certification validates the ability to install, configure, operate, and troubleshoot medium-size routed and switched networks, including implementation and verification of connections to remote sites in a WAN. This new curriculum includes basic mitigation of security threats, introduction to wireless networking concepts and terminology, and performance-based skills. Call the Center at (931) 221-7816 for details.
