

WAKE-ROBIN

Trillium cuneatum Raf.

All members of the genus Trillium have one thing in common: parts are in threes and from this the generic name is taken. However, each plant only has one flower. Three species are best known from the LBL area. The Wake-Robin or Purple Trillium has sessile and greenish-purple flowers. It is not widespread in LBL but is locally abundant in a few mesic woods and usually colonial when found. Flowering is in April-May (Liliaceae, the Lily Family).
