

Faculty Senate Ad Hoc Instructional Workload Committee

The committee charge and membership are given below. Sally Lundin-Schiller, Academic Council member, will chair the Committee.

The APSU Instructional Workload policy came before Academic Council on January 27; language revisions under #14 Part-Tim Adjunct Workload were passed (see attached). During this meeting, Senator Kemmerly, Faculty Senate Representative to Academic Council, asked that instructional workload be examined. Teaming a member of Academic Council with Faculty Senators together to accomplish this charge seems prudent. The new Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs (AVPAA), Brian Johnson, is asked serve as an ex-officio member of this committee.

Committee Charge: This committee is charged with gathering information about instructional workload policy at sister institutions, including, but not limited to, those in the Tennessee Board of Regents, and making recommendations regarding APSU instructional workload policy as compared to sister institutions. They will share this information in a written report the full Faculty Senate.

Committee Membership (these are Senators who volunteered to serve during the January 28, 2010 Senate meeting)

Chair: Sally Lundin-Schiller, Academic Council member

Phyllis Camilleri (Geology)

Benita Bruster (Education)

Karen Meisch (Biology)

Michelle Robertson (Nursing)

Gregg Schlanger (Art)

Perry Scanlan (Allied Health)

Brian Johnson (Provost's Office), ex-officio