
CONTRIBUTORS' NOTES

Anna Bledsoe is currently a student at Marshall University in Huntington, WV. This is her first publication.

Daniel Fansler is an undergraduate student at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas. He is pursuing his BFA in Creative Writing.

Bryana Fern is a PhD student at the University of Southern Mississippi. When she is not reading or watching Netflix, she is hiking, biking, or walking the beach. Her greatest ambition is to travel back to London and see a performance in the Globe.

Hannah Kludy is a senior creative writing major at Northwest Missouri State University. She has had work published in Northwest Missourian and Medium Weight Forks.

Samantha Stone is an undergraduate at Hollins University. She is majoring in Creative Writing with a minor in Studio Art. She recently received the Nancy Holsonbeck Award in English and has been published in Famous Poets of the Heartland and Hollins' own literary magazine. She enjoys writing and reading across several genres. Samantha was born in Roanoke and resides in the shadow of Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains.

Laura Ullom is a junior double major in English and Spanish at Cedarville University. She loves literature and is excited to be working at the Cedarville Writing Center because it gives her the chance to help other students express their own ideas on paper. She spends her free time working on short stories, poems, and diary entries.

April Vázquez is a native of North Carolina with a BA in Literature and Language from UNC-Asheville and an MA in Teaching English as a Second Language from UNC-Charlotte. She currently lives in León, Guanajuato, Mexico, where she homeschools her children, reads, and writes. Her work has been published or is forthcoming in The Missing Slate, Windhover, Cleaver, The New Plains Review, Ghost Town, The Fieldstone Review, and others.